JUSTICE WOODS DEAD. He Expired About Noon To-Day-A

Sketch of His Career. Justice William B. Woods, of the Supreme Court of the United States who has been ill at his residence on R street, in this city, for some time, died a few minutes after 12 o'clock to-day. He was seriously sick while in California a month ago, but improved enough to enable him to come home. After his arrival he continued to grow worse. His disease was dropsy. He suffered intensely last night, but in the early morning he apparently became insensible to pain. He was entirely unconscious this morning and the only evidence of life visible was his slow respiration. His family realized that the end was near. He passed away peacefully with-out evincing any sign of returning consciousness. It was only at intervals that he manifested any recognition of those around him last night.

It is understood to be the desire of Justice Woods' family to have him buried in Ohio, where he was born. The funeral arrangements have not

Justice Woods was born in Newark, Ohio, and, after receiving his primary education, was sent to Yale College, where he graduated in 1845. Subsequently he studied law, and began the practice of his profession in 1847. Entering the political arena as a democrat he was elected in 1857 to the Ohio legislature, and made speaker, and was re-elected to the same body two years thereafter. After the breaking out of the war in 1861 he went into the military service as lieutenant-colonel of the iseventy-sixth Ohio Infantry, serving until the war closed, when he was mustered out with the rank of brigadier-general and brevet-major-general. He was mustered out in Alabama, where he remained. Returning to legal duties and poliyears, but after serving in this position for two years was appointed by President Grant circuit judge of the United States for the fifth district, which office he held while residing in Mobile for a number of years. His promotion to the United States Supreme Court took place in 1880. The Atlanta Constitution (dem.) said of him, when appointed to a place on the Supreme Court bench: "In his position as Circuit Judge of the

and his fitness will not be questioned by those who are best qualified to judge of the nature and extent of his professional acquirements. It is to be hoped that the appointment of Judge Woods will not interfere with the success of the movement which has for its purpose the appointment of a real representative of the south upon the Supreme bench. Judge Woods is a large stock-holder in the Tecumseh Iron Works, of Cherokee County, Ala., and is interested in other Alabama

We are trying to help those who apply to us, not by giving money, but by taking them off the street and giving them work. We hope, in this way, to reduce the record of crime in Washington. Some of these children have no homes. One little boy, for whom we provided a good home, slept on a shoemaker's bench and got his meals wherever he could. Another boy, after the death of his drunken mother, slept in a stable till driven off by the owner, who thougt him a tramp. Another boy slept on lumber piles in a stable till driven on by the owner, who though him a tramp. Another boy slept on lumber piles or under door steps after his ticket at the night lodging house expired. We have provided homes and employment for all of these boys. We got em-ployment for one little boy at $1.50 per week, and for some time this was all the family of three had
